

Richmond Homeschool Forensics
“Beginning Policy Debate Camp”

This two-day camp will provide home schooled students ages 13 and up with an in-depth exploration of the fundamentals of policy debate, in a fun setting, with the purpose of preparing them for participation in our RADIX Debate Club for this coming debate season. Students who do not plan to join RADIX are invited to attend camp as space is available.

Eligibility: Home schooled students ages 13 and up

Dates: Thursday, August 27th, and Friday, August 28th, 2009

Times: 9:00 AM - 4:00 PM each day (optional evening activities)

Location: Richmond, Virginia – location TBD

Facilitators: RHF Leadership and RADIX Varsity Debaters

Fees: Camp tuition is included in the Foundations Class fee. Tuition is $30 for others. There are additional small fees for the optional evening activities. (picnic/swimming and pizza party)

Debate Camp Guidelines: We expect participants to be punctual, eager to learn, and courteous towards fellow campers. Dress is casual but conservative. MEN: Collared shirt, no slogans on clothing, nice pants, no jeans or shorts. LADIES: Nice pants modestly fitted, no jeans or shorts; no tank tops, low-cut or tight blouses; dresses or skirts below the knees & modestly fitted.
